

Home Zones

Home Zones are residential streets in which the road space is shared between drivers and other road users with the wider needs of residents (including people who walk and cycle, and children) in mind. The aim is to change the way that streets are used and to improve the quality of life in residential streets by making them places for people, not just for traffic.

Further information and guidance on Home Zones and similar traffic calming measures is available from the Department's Traffic Management Advisory Leaflets section.

Home Zones: Challenging the future of our streets

Home Zones

Circular 2/2006 : The Quiet Lanes and Home Zones (England) Regulations 2006 (116 kb)

Guidance and procedures for the making, variation and revocation of a designation of a road as a Quiet Lane or Home Zone, use orders and speed orders.

Published:
08 August 2006

Better street design brings better life, say residents

Short report on how better street design brings improvements to neighbourhoods.

Published:
05 May 2005

For related documents, pages and internet links, see the column on the right.